

"In the workplace it's about so much more than just being conscientious. There are invisible barriers: emails not everyone receives, conversations only open to a few."

